DelHur is licensed to perform work in 16 states including Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North/South Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming. Our talented and qualified workforce averages 120 employees, and the company has an aggregate bonding capacity of $80 million. DelHur's experienced management team provides superior project organization, estimating, value engineering, constructability reviews, and cost saving measures resulting in risk mitigation and increased productivity.

FEDERAL EXPERIENCE

Through the successful completion of over several hundred million dollars of federal contracts, DelHur has demonstrated its ability to manage complex high-visibility projects under multi-agency regulatory oversight. The company has an outstanding record performing challenging construction and environmental remediation scopes of work at the U.S. Department of Energy's Hanford Site in Washington and its INL Site in Idaho. Throughout its history at these sites (>1 million man-hours), DelHur has maintained an exemplary safety record, met project and safety milestones, and earned safety awards and special recognition. DelHur has an audited and implemented NQA-1 Quality Assurance Program and has been held to rigorous quality standards and audits during the performance of its DOE contracts. DelHur has executed work for several other federal agencies, including the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Federal Highway Administration, Bureau of Reclamation, and Department of Natural Resources.

COMMERCIAL, STATE & MUNICIPAL EXPERIENCE

DelHur has many commercial clients ranging from international Fortune 500 companies to regional businesses in markets that include mining, oil and gas, solid waste, transportation, and water resources. Additionally, DelHur has performed contracts for numerous state agencies and municipalities, building and maintaining public infrastructure such as highways and landfill facilities.
